HOW PSERS OPERATES

Pennsylvania's Public School Employees' Retirement System (PSERS) allows members to accumulate funds for retirement benefits which provide an income for life after reaching a certain age or a required number of years of service.

The Commonwealth and local school districts also contribute to the fund. Their rate is determined each year by the actuary. PSERS operates under the actuarial reserve plan. Required reserves accumulate to pay the retirement allowances as they accrue. Under the law the school employe, the Commonwealth and the school districts pay each year into their reserve funds. This, plus compound interest, pays benefits provided by law.

Interest fees, creating and maintaining reserves in the fund, the payment of retirement allowances and other benefits are obligations of the Commonwealth.

Allowances paid to retirees are fixed. They can be changed only by legislation. No provision in the Retirement Act permits payment of variable annuities to take care of the inflationary cost of living. Not until the state constitution was amended in 1955 was the fund allowed to increase payment to members already retired.

Certain allowances are inadequate because of inflation, which soared to record levels in 1974. Legislation is pending to adjust fixed incomes.

INVESTMENTS

The fiscal year ending June 30, 1975, was a year of growth in both assets and earnings. During the year, the investment fund increased by $280.2 million to a total of $2.9 billion, a growth of 10.5 per cent. Annual earnings advanced 13.3 per cent, from $155.2 million to $175.9 million, while the yield to maturity increased from 6.06 to 6.1 per cent. Earnings increased faster than assets because new investments were bought at interest rates higher than the fund's average yield. Also, lower yield bonds were exchanged for higher-yielding debt securities.

The PSERS fund is audited regularly by the State Auditor General.

Pensurdata Inc., pension consultants for public retirement programs, will install an automated reporting system which will provide PSERS membership with faster and more efficient service. Pensurdata has completed design and layout of the new system.

The largest investment for the year was in industrial/commercial bonds, which increased by $95.3 million. Short-term investments were the next most active, increasing by $75.2 million. Third largest was the common equities market, increasing by $58.3 million to five per cent of the total $2.9 billion retirement fund.

Becker Securities again evaluated the retirement fund's performance from June 30, 1974, through June 30, 1975, on a quarterly basis. Becker ranked the PSERS fund among the top earning performers of the 50 funds studied in 1973.
